

Martial Arts Instructor

Job description

Martial arts is a fun and effective way to stay fit and develop discipline, self-confidence and perseverance. We are looking for a Martial arts instructor working with children under the age of 18 to teach fighting and self-defence techniques, and to develop character in their students.

Requirements

instructor must hold a black belt in their art. They must be able to correctly demonstrate the techniques and teach them to students in a safe way. In addition, instructors must know the history, traditions and values of the martial art so that they can pass these on to their students. Instructor must also communicate clearly and be comfortable and confident teaching large groups. Ideally, they will know basic first aid to handle injuries that might occur in class.

The Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) offers employers to carry out a criminal record check of employees/volunteers.

As you will be working with children and young adults it is a legal requirement that all employees are DBS checked.

Duties and Responsibilities

Martial arts instructor must plan classes and tailor them to the skill level of the students. Classes might include teaching new techniques, practicing strikes on pads or heavy bags, sparring, meditation, stretching, conditioning and discussing the history or philosophy of the art. Instructors should be available before and after class to speak with students, answer questions and make sure students are on track to reach their goals.

Applicant has to be from the Bangladeshi community.
